

CONSTITUTION BOARD GAME

Goal: Pretend you were hired as a game board designer by one of the leading game companies. You are to design a board game that demonstrates your knowledge of the United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights and allows others to learn the information in a fun and interesting way.

Materials: Poster board, construction paper, colored pencils, markers, glue, tape, index, cards, playing pieces, spinner or dice, etc. This will depend on your game and the directions you create.

What is your job?

You are to create a game board that is neat, colorful, and in some way related to the United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights

The game needs to contain a complete sheet of directions. The directions sheet should include the name of the game, rules for playing the game, all items needed to play the game including game pieces, spinner or dice, cards or anything needed to play the game.

Requirements:

A minimum of 25 questions about the Bill of Rights, the Amendments, Branches of Government, and the Constitution in general.

- 6 questions related to the Bill of Rights and/or the amendments
- 4 questions related to the Legislative Branch of government
- 3 questions related to the Executive Branch of government
- 3 questions related to the Judicial Branch of government
- 3 questions about famous men of that period
- 6 questions pertaining to the Constitution (your choice)

The board must be attractive and colorful. It should include at least 5 pictures related to the United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

Your project will be graded on accuracy of facts, required elements, originality, rules, and attractiveness.
